Chapter News

Col John Harbison, USAF, ret. presents an award and a check from the Pope Chapter for $100 to Mara Yochim at the Regional Science Fair held on February 22, 2014 at UNC Pembroke.

Mara's science fair project (left) investigated the amount of lift generated by three different shapes of a simulated wing surface - symmetrical, asymmetrical and a block shape. It was interesting to note that Mara built her own wind tunnel with a bit of help from her dad. Mara will compete again at the State Science Fair in late March.

Local Support

Recently the Pope Chapter assisted the Terry Sanford High School JrROTC department identify a mentor for the Air Force Association sponsored STEM-related CyberPatriot program. The chapter also provided a new computer for competition and replaced the antiquated computer the team was using.

Great news! The team won the North Carolina Service Division Championship missing regionals by 2 points. They beat 31 other teams in the state. Additionally, they were 34th out of 402 in the national state round.
